

MARSHALL REFERS REDS TO UNITED NATIONS

Chrysler Employee Strike Opens 3rd Round Wage Battle

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, May 12—The CIO's 75,000 Chrysler Corp. employees struck today for a third round of post-war increases.
Gov. Sigler immediately ordered a complaint against the strikers under Michigan's new Bonine-Tripp Labor Law.
It requires that the state take a strike vote before workers can walk out. The CIO United Auto Workers contend it does not apply when a firm has plants outside of Michigan.
Sigler told reporters that he had asked the state labor mediation board to make a complaint to Wayne county (Detroit) Prosecutor James McNally. Under the law, McNally then could ask a court injunction.
"Either the law is good or it isn't," Sigler said. "If it's constitutional, we might as well find out now."

Meanwhile, Briggs Manufacturing Co. said 13,000 workers in its six Detroit plants would be laid off by Monday because of the strike. Briggs supplies Chrysler with bodies.

Workers Stream Out
Workers streamed from the Detroit area Chrysler plants quietly. A few sang. Many joined picket lines to bear placards reading:

"We are on the picket line because we can't buy the things we need" and "My wife can't buy pork and beans on sympathy."

A flood of workers from the Dodge main plant jammed traffic for 20 minutes. Guards threw the main gates wide to allow the men and women out.

Pood and sandwiches were awaiting pickets. Union members were preparing it two hours before the strike deadline.

Within an hour all 12 Chrysler plants in Michigan were idle. There are three more in Indiana and one in California.

Police Commissioner Harry Toy said the union had promised to let non-striking office and maintenance help "go in and out as heretofore."

Norman Matthews, head of the union's Chrysler negotiators, told a UAW-CIO meeting last night that "since Chrysler has forced us into the position of striking, we will give them the damndest strike they have ever seen."

General Manager Herman L. Weckler of the corporation, said that, despite the strike, the company is "still willing to discuss the situation and to arrive at a reasonable settlement."

Negotiations have been underway since Feb. 27 on the UAW's demands for a 30-cent hourly wage boost, pensions, insurance and other benefits.

Discounts Gains
Weckler, in a statement last night repeated the company's contentions that "wage increases would inevitably contribute to another rise in prices, another rise in living costs, and consequently would not increase employees' purchasing power."

He said Chrysler had offered its workers raises equivalent to $10,000,000 a year, but that the union asks $28,000,000.

Michigan's Governor Kim Sigler called on the UAW to comply fully with a state law, which requires taking of a strike vote prior to any walkout.

Bill Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer and acting president during the convalescence of Walter P. Reuther, had contended that the

STEELWORKERS TO DECIDE ON TAFT LAW MOVE

Convention In Boston To Discuss Again Union Stand Against Law

(By Associated Press)
BOSTON, May 12—Nearly 3,200 delegates to a convention of the CIO's largest union—the Steelworkers—will decide whether the organization will continue its stand of refusing to comply with the non-Communist pledge in the Taft-Hartley act.

Asked by one of the delegates, Bert Hanson of Chicago, the reason for the union's stand, President Philip Murray replied it was not final and that the convention would decide the question.

"I'm going to recommend to this convention whether you comply or not, that you expend your money to fight this in the federal courts," Murray added as the delegates of the 928,000-member union stood and applauded.

The Steelworkers president who also heads the national CIO was referring to the union's contention that the Taft-Hartley act is unconstitutional in its requirement of no-Communist affidavits by union officers and to a court test case the union is seeking.

The Steelworkers executive committee resolved last year not to use the facilities of the National Labor Relations board under the act.

Murray told the convention's opening yesterday that the Steelworkers were the only U. S. labor group that tried to test the political provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

A Youngstown, O., delegate declared that the long delay in getting a court decision was "a club over our heads" and attempted to carry on discussion.

"It's breaking down morale in our membership," he said.

The convention, however, voted to suspend talk until the question is brought up as a resolution.

Decision On Holy Land Not In Sight

LAKE SUCCESS, May 12—With only two days left to act, the United Nations struggled today to reach a decision on what is known as the Palestine problem.

The deadline is midnight Friday, Palestine time, or 6 p. m. when the British drop their old League of Nations mandate over the Holy Land.

No agreement is in sight here, either on the Palestine problem as a whole or on special measures to safeguard the Holy places of Jerusalem, although a special session of the United Nations Assembly has been spurring with both questions for nearly a month.

A special sub-committee received last night a proposal from the United States and France that Jerusalem be placed temporarily under the authority of the United Nations when the British mandate ends. Under this proposal the U. N. trusteeship council would be the administrative authority. It would be empowered to name a high commissioner for the city, site of Holy Shrines of three religions.

Two thefts on the E. Sixth st. homes project were reported to police.

Manager Cotnar of the W. B. Gilson Co. said a thief entered the No. 9 house and stole a $200 tripod level sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning.

A new 24-inch joint, belonging to John Veems of 835 N. Howard av., was stolen from the house in which he was working sometime Tuesday night.

'Peace' Ambassador Arrives in Berlin

Sec. Sawyer Drafting New Trade Policy For Russia

WASHINGTON, May 12—Charles Sawyer, new Secretary of Commerce, is drafting a trade policy statement to let Russian bloc nations buy more American goods.

But officials who disclosed this today said the move will only partly lift the choke-down in shipments to Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Purchases of industrial goods which might add to Russia's war potential will still be banned, they said.

Besides the goods barred from export, three other classes of goods are being listed. These range from items that would be freely licensed for export to other products that would be licensed only under particular conditions.

The list does not deal with weapons and other direct war materials since licenses for these must come from the State department rather than Commerce.

Any list saying what the Russians can and what they can't buy from the United States is expected to ease the trade freeze that has developed in recent weeks.

The Russians and their satellites have cut down sharply on their American buying since the policy was adopted that all goods they ordered for shipment after March 1 must be licensed.

Auto Makers to Present New Models Late This Year

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor
DETROIT, May 12—A lot of 1949 model automobiles are in prospect for the latter half of this year. Most of them will follow the general styling initiated by Studebaker, Packard and Kaiser-Frazer.

That means a lot of new vehicles with pontoon-type fenders in straight lines from headlamps to tail-lights.

Ford already is in production with its 1949 Ford line. The new Fords will be shown publicly early in June. Some time in August one or more of the so-called "independents" will close down to switch to 1949 model output.

Most sources expect General Motors to have all its new models on the assembly lines by late October or early in November. Some time before the year's end Chrysler probably will make its first major changes since the war.

Chrysler made a lot of styling and some engineering changes as production went forward, thus avoiding prolonged shutdowns.

Among these were the alterations necessary to adapt the new extra low pressure tires to its entire line, including Plymouth.

A lot of persons already have seen the new Ford. Most of them are connected in some way with its production. The Ford company, however, is trying to keep all details a close secret until formal public presentation.

Recent introduction of the new Lincoln and Mercury models led to guesses in some sources that the new Ford styling would follow that of these two other units of the Ford line. It may be said without disclosing any secrets that the Lincoln and Mercury styling changes as production went forward, thus avoiding prolonged shutdowns.

Kaiser-Frazer has disclosed plans to bring out a convertible model this summer but has not indicated any intention of an early change in the overall styling of its present models. However, it has made a number of changes as production proceeded.

Studebaker is planning changes for 1949 but the new models may not come out before Jan. 1. Studebaker makes no secret of its belief that it led the way in ultra-styling of postwar automobiles. As a consequence there is much speculation in industry circles as to what it will bring out in 1949.

Rules Out Chance Of Direct Talks Over 'Cold' War

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 12—Secretary of State Marshall said today that if Russia is seriously interested in improving world conditions there is urgent need for action through the United Nations.

In a news conference statement, Marshall ruled out the possibility of a direct two-nation settlement.

Marshall said in the statement that Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith had not asked Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov "for any general discussion or negotiation."

Molotov had said that Smith proposed discussion and negotiation and publicly announced that Russia had accepted. That was in a world-startling Russian broadcast Monday night (Moscow time).

A reporter asked why it would not be possible to ask Premier Stalin to a meeting with President Truman in Washington if the Soviet government submits concrete proposals for negotiation with the United States. Marshall said he could not discuss that point; that would be one for the President.

The Secretary emphasized several times that while he has so far not determined on sending any further formal note or statement to Molotov, the United States will stand ready at any time to undertake normal diplomatic interchanges when there is hope for beneficial results.

Department Busy
The State department kept busy all day yesterday the texts of various declarations to try to set the record straight on exactly what is what. Behind the scenes officials were beginning to explore the possibilities of what the next step might be.

The texts issued were these:
1. A statement by Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith to Molotov in Moscow May 4. It was aimed, officials said, at impressing on the Russians that the United States intends to go through with its policies for rebuilding Western Europe but is not hostile or aggressive toward the Soviet Union.

2. Molotov's reply to Smith on May 9. In this the Soviet government assumed that what Smith had said on May 4 added up to a proposal to discuss a settlement of outstanding differences. Molotov said the Soviet Union "is in agreement with the proposal."

3. Informal comments Smith made to Molotov. In this Smith reiterated substantially what he said in his first statement and added that American policy had been forced by what Smith called Russia's "expansionist policies" in Europe.

Explain Intent
In between these releases, the White House issued a statement in which Truman declared that Smith's purpose in calling on Molotov in the first place had been to impress upon the Soviet government:

1) That the present policies of the United States, including European recovery, "will continue to be vigorously and firmly prosecuted" but (2) "The United States has no hostile or aggressive designs whatsoever with respect to the Soviet Union."

Officials who will be influential in determining the final American decision on the next move said several fundamental points must be kept in mind.

One of these is that the United States does not consider any overall settlement possible at this time. Rather it believes that the only progress which might be made would come in agreement on specific issues.

Another fundamental point entering into State department calculations is that any negotiations which might take place involving the interests of other countries, such as France and Britain must include these countries.

Still a third consideration is that Russia may be maneuvering for formal American recognition of the Soviet sphere of influence in Eastern Europe. Authorities here said flatly the American government will never grant any such recognition.

Everything Normal But . . .

The railroad system of the United States is operating as usual. Its employees are busy at their essential work. Millions of other employees who would have been laid off in event of a railroad strike are earning wages—doing what needs to be done to keep the national economy healthy. The population has been given back the sense of security it lost when a railroad strike was in the offing.

The chances are there will be no strike. The government, having taken technical possession of the railroads, will devise ways and means of keeping them in operation. It will do this with complete popular approval, including the approval of a majority of railroad workers. The United States cannot tolerate a railroad strike. There is too much at stake—the general welfare.

Yet in the face of this predetermined fact a strike was called by a minority of railroad workers. The minority was able to do it because it had the privilege of industrywide bargaining. It used this privilege to threaten a nationwide disaster. When that happened, the government was forced to intercede, as it always has interceded and always will. The alternative would be anarchy.

No minority has a moral right to jeopardize the public welfare of the entire nation. This has been affirmed every time a minority tried it and forced government intervention. Yet, under existing law, minorities continue to have a legal right to try it. If the United States cannot accept nationwide strikes against public welfare—and experience shows it cannot and will not—there will have to be revision of legal sanctions for nationwide bargaining that uses nationwide strikes as a last resort to force a settlement.

On The ECA Team

Some observers have been wondering just what will be the relationship between Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the Economic Cooperation Authority (the Marshall Plan organization's official name) and W. Averell Harriman, ECA's roving ambassador. They point out that Mr. Hoffman is a free enterpriser whose record indicates he would set more store on Europe's recovery through individual effort. Mr. Harriman, on the other hand, supported the President's 10-point program calling for rationing, price ceilings and other controls. A supporter of peacetime controls is more likely to be sympathetic to governments that proceed on the theory that rehabilitation is better imposed than induced.

Public Law 472 sets forth the roving ambassador's duties as follows: He "shall be the representative of the administrator and shall also be the chief representative of the U. S. government to any organization of participating countries . . . To further the joint program of European recovery, and shall discharge in Europe such additional responsibilities as may be assigned to him with the approval of the President . . . He shall receive his instructions from the administrator and such instructions shall be prepared and transmitted to him in accordance with a procedure agreed to between the administrator and the Secretary of State . . . He shall consult with the chief of all (special) missions who shall give him such cooperation as he may require for the performance of his duties . . ."

A study of this passage shows that the closest team work will be necessary between administrator and ambassador; otherwise ECA will be afflicted with the same trouble as our defense team, which has a coach and three co-captains who can't agree on what plays will be called.

Stuffed Dove On A String

The Kremlin has sent aloft a stuffed dove on a string. The United States wonders why.

Three things are obvious:

1. The dove is held aloft by the wishful hopes of Americans, who want to believe that war with Russia can be averted. It is a trial balloon.

2. But it is the only sign even given that the Kremlin might possibly want to reopen the questions that have alarmed American public opinion, even if the purpose is only to stall for time.

3. The United States must give Russia the benefit of the doubt, meanwhile continuing to talk the only language the Kremlin seems to understand—no appeasement, adequate military force to offset Russian expansionism and rehabilitation of European countries outside the Soviet sphere of influence.

It is possible, though not probable, that the Kremlin genuinely wants to reach an understanding that can save the United Nations, avert a costly armaments race and subdue the clash of ideologies that has mocked the dream of international security on a live-and-let-live basis.

The Italian elections, formation of groups working toward European federation and firm policy of the United States on military preparedness and economic assistance to free nations may have changed the Kremlin's mind. The question of its sincerity, however, must remain open until proof is given, and only Russia can give the proof.

The United States believes cooperative security within the United Nations is possible, if Russia will cooperate. If Russia will not cooperate, the United States will try to achieve security outside the United Nations. It has no hostile designs on Russia. It awaits proof that Russia has no hostile designs on the United States, on any of the nations which look to the United States for guarantees of security against Russia.

Troublesome Foot Infection

BY HERMAN N. BUNDEN, M.D.

WITH the coming of warm weather it always seems as if ringworm infections of the feet become more common.

It is true that people tend to pick up this disease during the summer, especially if they frequent infected swimming pools and beaches but, at the same time, many an old case, which seemed to disappear during the winter, flares up anew at the first hint of hot weather.

This is the time when it is likely to become severe so that, instead of merely cracking and scaling the skin, it causes the formation of blisters which burst and leave raw skin surfaces.

Ringworm of Feet

Many forms of treatment for ringworm of the feet have been employed. During the war treatments containing a substance known as undecylenic acid were widely employed for various fungus disorders of the skin.

Dr. Emanuel Muskatkin tried out a preparation of this type on 44 patients, twenty-eight of whom had ringworm of the feet, one of the hands, and four of the nails.

The remainder had fungus infections of a different type. Of 32 patients who had ringworm infections of various parts of the body 22 were cured. In five, the treatment was a failure, while in the other five the results were doubtful. The cure required from eleven days to three and one-half months.

Causes No Irritation

This ointment causes no irritation of the skin, even in those with blisters and raw surfaces. It would seem that this method of treatment is quite satisfactory in most cases. However, whenever a severe ringworm infection is present, the physician should be consulted concerning the best treatment to be employed.

Unfortunately, efforts of a home treatment often result in further irritation of the skin, thus making the disorder worse.

In extreme cases it may be necessary to use wet applications or to soak the feet in some astringent solution until the severe inflammation is cleared up. Then more active

Christian Church is Scene Of Mother-Daughter Party

One of the most beautifully appointed Mother-Daughter parties of the season was that Tuesday evening in the Christian church given by the Loyal Women's class with approximately 140 attending.

Mrs. E. S. Scott, wife of Rev. Scott, pastor, toastmistress, welcomed the guests and announced the delightful program of entertainment, arranged by Mrs. R. D. Painter's division.

A humorous skit entitled, "The Going Around Committee" cast by Mrs. H. B. Parks and Mrs. Herbert Hengling afforded lots of fun. Using for her theme, "What Our Daughters Mean To Us," Mrs. W. P. Davis gave the toast to the daughters. Miss Mary Shriver responded with a toast "To Mothers."

Mrs. Walter J. Hunston and Mrs. Glenn L. Davis entertained with two piano solos, "Two Guitars" and "Norwegian Dance."

Mrs. Richard Hutcheson impersonated the song, "Little Old Lady" sung by Mrs. Yengling.

Two whistling solos, "Serenade of the Bell" and "How Is The Hour" were offered by Mrs. James Briggs of Canton, formerly of Salem.

The oldest mother, Mrs. Caroline Schuler; the youngest mother, Mrs. Robert Boyce, and the youngest daughter, Sally Hainan, received potted plants with Mrs. Carroll Beck, class president, making the presentation.

Pink geraniums combined with vari-colored spring flowers made attractive centerpieces on the dinner tables. Miniature umbrellas in pastel shades added beauty to the appointments. Miss Addie Bonnell, teacher, gave the invocation.

Bouquets of flowers of various hues were used in the room making a picturesque setting.

Mrs. George Lozier and her division were in charge of decorations and the dinner was served by members of the Gold Star class.

Among the guests were Mrs. Iva Powell of Sebring; Mrs. Wilda Mounts Marshall of Leetonia and Mrs. Wilford Sheely of R. D. Columbiana.

70-GROUP FORCE TWO YEARS AWAY

Problem of Re-Tooling
Would Still Be Major
One If War Came

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
Associated Press Aviation Reporter
NEW YORK, May 12—Adoption of a 70-group air force program by congress merely starts the wheels toward a modern flying, fighting force of that size. It could not be achieved in less than two years. If a war emergency occurred tomorrow, the first decision forced upon military leaders would be whether to retool for World War II planes or try to push development of post-war types, most of them jets.

Tooling for large volume production of most planes that served in the recent war has been destroyed. At the same time, jet aircraft have not yet been developed to a state satisfactory for combat use. The bill at the White House today represents approximately $3,000,000,000 provided by congress in advance of regular military appropriations so that the job of producing can be started. Most of the money is authority to contract for military aircraft. With a few exceptions, delivery will be made during the fiscal years ending in June 1950 and 1951.

The authority provided in the bill is intended to purchase 4,262 warplanes—2,727 for the Air Force and 1,535 for the Navy.

The Air Force is operating around 4,000 combat planes today, while under a 70-group program it will have about 6,300. If an immediate expansion became necessary, the air force could draw on the 12,000 planes it has in storage, although Air Secretary Symington has said only 2,000 of those are types which fit into the modernized program.

Major purchases under the new program by the Air Force will include the Boeing B-50 Superfortress, the Northrop B-49 jet-powered flying wing, the North American B-45 four-engine jet medium bomber, Boeing B-47 six-engine jet bomber, Republic P-84 Thunderbolt jet, North American P-86 swept-wing jet, Lockheed P-80 Shooting Stars, and the Fairchild C-119 Packet, a troop carrier transport.

Daily Chores Continue As House Is Relocated

WAREHAM, Mass. — Ernest W. Briggs, house mover, is one of those practical New Englanders who believes nothing should interrupt daily chores.

So when the John W. Todd family asked him to move their house to a new location, Briggs decided to maintain their daily regime during the moving operation. The problem wasn't simple. Though the house actually would be relocated only 90 feet from its original position, a 500-foot trip was involved because the new site was on a higher level.

Finally Briggs hitched up a long cable and a horse that solved the primary problems of electricity and water.

When moving day came, Mrs. Todd was able to use her various electrical appliances, including a washing machine, and finish her household duties in time to wave from the kitchen window to neighbors as the house moved slowly down the street.

Mrs. Augustina said she resented Mariano's "silly" attitude. She cracked him soundly over the head with a board and sent her daughter to call the cops.

Nationwide Phone Strike Threatend

WASHINGTON, May 12—A possible nationwide strike of long distance telephone operators hinges today on a new government try at settling the union-company wage dispute.

John J. Moran, president of the CIO American Telephone Workers union, said a strike date will be set if the government negotiations fail.

"Nobody pays much attention to you until you inconvenience them," Moran told a reporter. "I guess John L. Lewis has the right idea." Moran, whose union represents 23,000 long distance workers in 42 states—was due to meet with representatives of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and conciliators of the Federal Mediation service at an afternoon conference.

The union wants a 30-cent wage boost, a shortened work week and larger pensions. It says workers now average $1.21 an hour.

A. T. & T.'s proposal for a two-year contract extension with no immediate wage increase was rejected. Moran said the company argued that the country's economy now is stable and any wage increases would disrupt it.

A. T. & T.'s contract with Moran's union expired at midnight Saturday. A strike could be called at any time.

Sen. Taft May Lose One Ohio Delegate On Death

COLUMBUS, May 12—Sen. Robert A. Taft may have 43 instead of 44 Ohio delegates backing him for the presidential nomination at the Republican national convention because of death of Frank Worstall, Zanesville, a Taft-pledged candidate in the 15th district.

Worstall died before the May 4 primary. Because of this, the Secretary of State's office indicated only 52 instead of 53 delegates may be certified.

GOP leaders said convention officials may agree to seat one of the alternates, in the event one does not take the position automatically.

Harold S. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, defeated Taft in nine of Ohio's delegate races.

RACE ISSUE IN DEFENSE TALK

Senate Amendment Refused In Committee; Fillerbuster May Result

WASHINGTON, May 12—The senate's military manpower bill bumped head-on today into the explosive race segregation issue.

Even before the compromise measure blending a five-year draft revival with a voluntary training program for 18-year-olds hit the floor officially, angry southern senators promised a red hot fight.

And when southerners talk fight in the senate they often mean fillerbuster.

What they want is a provision in the bill guaranteeing every enlisted man the right to serve only in a unit of "his own race."

Turn Amendment Down
Senator Russell (D-Ga) asked the armed services committee to approve such an amendment yesterday, but the committee turned him down, 7 to 4.

Senator Maybank (D-SC), who cast one of the losing votes, served this warning on his colleagues: "The day that this bill comes to the senate floor I will make speeches and offer amendments until the issue is cleared. It cannot be allowed to pass in its present form."

Newsmen who asked Chairman Gurney (R-SD) whether the segregation question might jeopardize the compromise bill finally worked out were given this reply:

"I am not making any forecasts but I sincerely wish that issue never had been raised."

As a substitute for original plans for a separate and compulsory UMT, the senate bill would permit 18-year-old youths to volunteer for one year of training with the regular services. Men 19 through 25 would be liable for two-year terms with doctors, dentists and other medical specialists up to 45 also subject to induction.

Meanwhile the $3,200,000,000 money bill authorizing an immediate start on a 70-group combat air force awaited Truman's expected signature. Containing $822,000,000 more than the President asked, it sped through both the house and senate yesterday by voice votes approving a final conference report.

Fined After Stabbing
EAST LIVERPOOL, May 12—Harold L. Mundy, 25, was fined $16 on an intoxication charge and held for investigation after two neighbors, William Baker, 23, and Raymond Kent, 21, had been stabbed during an argument.

COLUMBUS, May 12—An Ohio penitentiary convict was indicted on first degree murder charges yesterday in connection with the fatal stabbing of two guards April 19.

The Franklin county grand jury returned two true bills against John Thomas, 34, of Dayton, in the deaths of Guards Walter W. Zimmer and S. P. Chesshir.

Thomas was charged with stabbing them with a knife after escaping from a hospital strong ward. He was sentenced for a Montgomery county burglary.

The grand jury also returned armed robbery indictments against four ex-convicts accused in the $10,000 Ritz club holdup last Jan. 23. Named on four counts each were George (Red) McGahan, 61; Howard (Ace) Bowman, 38; William Green, 38, and Walter Flory, 37.

Says Colleges Have Heavy Part In Peace

(By Associated Press)
TOLEDO, May 12 — This avoidance of war must be the "common concern" of American universities and engineering colleges, Dr. Raymond Walters, University of Cincinnati president, said here today.

Speaking at the inauguration of Wilbur W. White, new president of the University of Toledo, Dr. Walters said "Soviet Russia fears the scientific and technological skill of the United States far more than she fears mass armies. To continue a stream of graduates, who will maintain superiority in scientific knowledge and technical 'know-how,' represents a practical contribution toward peace which universities and engineering colleges, such as ours, can and must take."

The universities' provision for the era of peace is equally important, Dr. Walters declared.

"Nothing can promote order in the world so definitely," he asserted, "as making a success of our American system of enterprise and our conception of the dignity and worth of the individual human soul."

"If we can make a real 'go' of industrial production and equitable distribution of economic goods, others will imitate America."

Dr. Walters said a third service which universities must give "has to do with the spiritual side of students."

Second Guessing

By DON E. BEATTIE
News Sports Editor

DEPARTMENT OF CONJECTURE

From the angle we get of the 14-team Class A softball league, Salem's most prominent summer entertainment in sports, it looks like the Amvets outfit in a "shoo-in" for the city title with either the Diner (last year's champs) or Mullins in second and third and Deming a close fourth.

From the top four on down the picking isn't easy either, but a wild guess would place the Recreation, the VFW, the Sanitary and Bliss in a close struggle, ending up in about that order.

The Salem Saxons, Democrats, Washingtonville, Electric Furnace and Frost Motors will pull a few surprises now and then, but they'll be in almost that order at the close of the regular schedule.

League play this season is not to be based on a "round" system and that will have a lot to do with the final outcome. For the most powerful teams seem more certain of being on top under the system to be used this year; i.e., a playoff among the top four after the season is finished sometime in August.

Pitching, as always, determines the power in softball and for that reason the Amvets stand supreme above the rest because of Johnny Zines, the closest thing in Salem play to a Bobby Feller. Besides Zines, the Amvets are braced with a stupendous array of batting and fielding power. No other team can equal them in every fielding spot and at the plate they should be as dangerous. Ralph "Sip" Mancuso will pilot the team and he has some of his former Leetonia gang on the squad.

The Salem Diner, champions last season, are "loaded" to a point, but the team appears somewhat young and perhaps not up to par set by Jim Aldom's 1947 crew. We see the Diner as a possible second or third but probably second.

Mullins reportedly has a new find in pitching. His name is not known in Salem but he is of top calibre from a Canton league. Besides that Mullins, handled again by Mike Schuller, is well equipped as the plate and in the field.

Demings, always a contender with Kenny Brudery hurling, has another well-rounded club with spotty batting power—but enough to get by in most of its games. The Pumpers may have trouble to land fourth, but it looks like they can do it without too many upsets.

From there on down it's a scramble. Several new entries, including Frosts, the newly lined-up Recreation, the Sanitary, Saxons, China and Democrats, may shuffle our estimate considerably, but they won't get into the top brackets. A recap on the predictions (and it may have to be eaten in August) follows:

- | | |
|---------------|-----------------|
| 1) Amvets | 8) Bliss |
| 2) S. Diner | 9) China |
| 3) Mullins | 10) Saxons |
| 4) Deming | 11) Democrats |
| 5) Recreation | 12) Washville |
| 6) VFW | 13) Elec. Furn. |
| 7) Sanitary | 14) Frosts |

ODDS AND ENDS

Salem will definitely be the track center of northeastern Ohio this week with what the "B" meet here Wednesday and the "A" affair Saturday. In all more than 40 track teams will visit Rely stadium this week. It's a tremendous job for Fred Cope, but he loves it.

Action blossomed at the Salem Golf club last weekend as the boys really poured out in the "just fair" weather. Bud Hone was among the most tickled guys who performed Sunday for he scored 46-46, a neat score for this early in the season.

The feud between Andy Mosey and Dick Dennis caught on good Sunday. Dennis taking Andy two-up in an afternoon battle. "Knobby" Greene, one of the most powerful hitters at the club, is getting down into the elite bracket early this year. He scored 39 in his first Sunday nine.

Mosey has the men's four-nights lined up and will announce them soon. His switch may amaze some, but it's as sure as tomorrow. And it looks like a jump for the better, too.

NOTE to Columbiana fans—There will be some interesting news popping soon about a former Clipperton coach who is planning a move. His switch may amaze some, but it's as sure as tomorrow. And it looks like a jump for the better, too.

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, May 12 — Despite Cleveland's early season success, Player-Manager Lou Boudreau still has his basic problem. After Bobby Feller and Bob Lemon, what next?

"Up to now it's been Al Gettel, Don Black, Bob Muncie and Gene Bearden," said Boudreau who, like most managers, is acutely embarrassed by a lack of capable starting pitchers. "We're still hoping that one of them will come through, but there's no use kidding, we still need pitching."

It was suggested that Russ Christopher, the thin man acquired from Connie Mack's Athletics, had been a most welcome addition. "That was one of our better moves," said Lou. "He's helped us a lot and he'll help more."

Boudreau reports he has found no reluctance on the part of Christopher to working as a relief man. When Connie sold him to the Tribe, he announced that Christopher had in mind set on becoming a regular starter.

"He'll relieve and relieve only for us," said Boudreau. "That's where he can help us most."

The Cleveland skipper who masterminded while playing shortstop and hitting .429, refused to be hurried into making squad cuts.

"We're only three over the limit," he said, "and we'll stay that way until May 19 when we have to be down to 25 men. We have eight outfielders and there is no question that some of our cutting probably will be done there."

Larry Doby has been in and out of the lineup in right field. But has played most of the games. Included in his 18 hits are five homers.

Hank Greenberg, now a part owner of the Tribe but a steady worker in pre-game practice, chipped in with a few remarks about his new club.

"This is going to be a good club," he said, "when we get our outfield straightened around. That's what I think, anyhow. As soon as we know who is going to play out there every day, we'll be better off."

"Of course," he added jokingly, "our infield is still kind of unsteady. But when those young fellows like Ken Keltner, Joe Gordon and Boudreau get their feet on the ground they'll get by."

The scorecard listed a fellow named Greenberg, wearing uniform No. 9 it said infielder after his name. Hank was asked what that meant.

"It shouldn't be there," he said, "I'm not on the active list. Just swinging around the league to see how much it has changed since '36. I'll probably stay home after this trip. That Veech (President Bill Veech) has me booked for a speech every night."

But if anything goes wrong with First Baseman Eddie Robinson. Vice-President Greenberg might be drafted out of the front office. After all, he has to protect his investment.

The Legion victory featured a four-bagger by Pat Mancuso and extra-base blows by John Shuman, Martin and McFall. Mancuso also collected a two-bagger.

Five big runs in the sixth frame made things easy for the victors.

Bronx Bombers Continue Pattern of Ruining Tribe

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Cleveland Indians are to win their first pennant in 28 years, they had best learn to beat the New York Yankees. One of the principal reasons the Indians have been pennantless since 1920 has been their inability to win their share of games from the Bronx Bombers.

Only four times in the last 27 seasons have the Indians won a majority of their games with the Yankees.

During the 27-year span, Cleveland finished in the runnerup spot three times. Always it was the Yankees who kept them from winning the flag.

The habit of long standing continued to haunt the Indians yesterday. Facing the Yankees for the first time this season, the Tribe absorbed a 4-1 licking which not only ended a five-game winning streak but knocked the team out of first place.

The Philadelphia Athletics nipped the St. Louis Browns, 3-2, in 11 innings to push past Cleveland into the top spot. The Yankees remained in third place in the tight race, a game away from the top.

In other American league games the Boston Red Sox snapped a five-game losing streak by shelling the tail-end Chicago White Sox, 8-0, and Detroit whipped the Senators in a night game at Washington, 4-1.

Only one National league game was played. The Philadelphia Phillies came from behind to defeat the Reds in Cincinnati, 4-3, and make a sweep of the three-game series. New York at Chicago and Boston at St. Louis were rained out. Brooklyn and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Allie Reynolds, former Cleveland right-hander, pitched the Yankees to victory over the Indians, allowing his former mates only nine hits as he registered his fifth straight triumph. The Indians' lone run resulted from Kony Keltner's 10th home run in the fourth inning.

A night game Philadelphia crowd of 32,565 saw the Athletics win their ninth straight. The winning run came in the bottom half of the 11th when St. Louis Pitcher Fred Sanford walked Pete Sader with the bases loaded and two out. Sam Chapman had sent the game into overtime when he exploded a ninth inning home run with two out and two strikes on him.

SEE SURE RECORD FOR DILLARD AGAIN
Coach Believes He'll Best Rice's Victory String in Miami Meet

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 12 — The "greatest desire to win of any competitor in the country" will carry Harrison Dillard to an all-time record for consecutive track victories Saturday, his coach predicted today.

Coach Eddie Finnegan lauded the Baldwin-Wallace star's latest triple victory in a meet with Akron and John Carroll universities at nearby Berea yesterday. The victory near the Negro speedster's two-year string to 64 straight triumphs.

"And you can say for me that Harrison will crack Greg Rice's mark of 65 straight wins in our dual meet with Miami University at Oxford, O., Saturday," Eddie declared. Rice set his mark as a distance star for Notre Dame.

Asked how Dillard would turn the trick in Saturday's meet, Finnegan asserted:

"To prove my point, I would like to explain how Dillard ran yesterday. 'He had no competition, but he turned in fine times of 14.1 seconds for the high hurdles, 9.8 for the 100-yard dash and 21.3 for the 220-yard dash.'

"He had those times," Eddie continued, "because he ran out each race. He ran as fast as a person can run—unless someone is pushing him."

"Dillard always has run that way since I have been coaching him at B-W. He has never had a letdown and I hope I'll never see him have a letdown—at least until after he has triumphed in the greatest desire to win of any competitor in the country. I believe that will carry him to a new record Saturday."

Finnegan said Dillard "should equal" Rice's record in the 100-yard dash, his first event at the Miami meet. He then "should crack the mark" in the high and low hurdles, Eddie added.

Bowlers Choose Reese Association President

He succeeded Mark Kingenmith of Columbiana.

Other officers elected include: First vice president, Perry Coy; second vice president, Jack McFrey; third vice president, Myron DeJone; fourth vice president, Sidney Bennett; Merle Caldwell, Earl Gray, Albert Appear and Kingenmith were named members of the executive committee.

The Salem Junior League closed its season May 10, having raised $474.00, knocking down a total of 1,000,000 pins for an average of 1000 pins per bowler.

Tonight at 8:45 they have an important match against their opponents for the season will be determined.

Rep. (Doc) Smith, Housing Administrator Mix Words In Debate Over Senate Bill

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, May 12 — Problem: You have a house. You take a good sharp axe, chop same down, and build another. How many houses do you have?
"One," shouted Rep. Fred Smith of Ohio. "It's as simple as all that."

Rep. Smith, who carries a black doctor's pill box when he isn't carrying a briefcase to congress, was getting himself worked into a suds over senate bill 806. It's a measure that would establish some kind of a "housing objective."

An objective is fine, said old doc, wagging both index fingers at the witness appearing before the banking currency committee of the house. The witness was white-haired, dignified John Taylor Egan, the public housing administrator.

But what good, asked the always-inquisitive man from the Buckeye state, is an objective in housing if you don't have any more houses when you get through?

Mr. Egan adjusted his silver-rimmed specs and suggested that the doc, maybe, ought to pull his scalpel over to the haw side and have a close look at the patient—the bill in question. Read it through to the end—unto page 115.

It says right there on page 58, said Egan, that the federal government plans to help build a lot of housing in the next five years. About six billions bucks worth. Around 100,000 units a year.

Yes, butted in Doc Smith, and how about all this slum clearance stuff in the bill? It says you clear out a slum area and then build new places.

"I don't see any more new houses in that," he cried.

Mr. Egan allowed a lot of things would grow on vacant lots that never grew before. Houses. Then he patiently explained that to his mind, wiping out slums is awful important. Eliminating places where some 18,000,000 Americans live in squalor, and giving 'em someplace decent to live.

Politics, Perhaps!
Doc Smith then said he thought mayhap he smelled a little politics in the committee room air.

"How do all these people interested in slum clearance vote?" he demanded. "Don't they vote for the people who will do 'em the most good?"

Mr. Egan snapped snappily that he was no Dr. Gallup and didn't go around feeling the public pulse. Earlier, for a minute there, the credit rating of your Uncle Sam teetered. A better word under the circumstances would be "rocked," theoretically, of course.

Doc Smith, again.

He went back to (for him) a local situation, to drive home a nail in the housing situation. To Ohio. Didn't he asked, the Reds step in and close out a housing project in Youngstown? Almost an eviction, you might say. And after the federal government had guaranteed to back up the bargain? Did that discredit the faith and credit of our uncle? Well, said Mr. Egan, in that particular case the Ohio city hadn't 'specially filled its part of the bargain. The Reds, he said, had little choice but to buy back what they had financed in the first place. At that point, handsome Hale Boggs of Louisiana, a member of the committee, spoke up in defense of your Uncle Sam.

Wasn't it true, he asked, that since the U. S. Housing act went into effect in 1937, that actually the full credit and faith of the federal government never had been used—or even challenged?

Mr. Egan, a-hemming and looking relieved, said, indeed, that sure was true.

Meeting dismissed!
